Firstly. In

Motherany Vistance, growing up is presented as an act that is hard for a parent to allow, First. Now, the Fact that ronic metaphor of "Anchor. Kire. is used to create L3 AO2 a justaposition between the speaker and his mother. The kite is used to represent the Son who is winking to leave and fly away yet his mother, the kice is potentially holding him dawn, as to she is not yet ready to let him ao. This is Further Shown through the use of the quote Fingertips Still pinch the last hundredth of an inch This used used to emphasise how states the speakers mother is trying so hard to not let She will kry anything to still have her hold and control L4 AO1 TASK AND REF over him. This creates a strong image in the mind of the render or how the Son/speaker is so ready to go yet his mother still isn't ready to allow this VOW, Similarly in the Poom Walking away by Day-Lewis the same growing up is hard to come there to Suggested reader that space of COMFORT. The we of the erm usually associated with birds leaving a nest, which suggests to the reader that the Child in in a frigite Fragile and L5 AO1 TASK AND REF leave. Now, In Mother Any Distance week do see a sense of acceptance of growing up through the use of Armitages natural imagary and use of Supportive metaphors. For example, the use of the quote "requires a second pair of hands" Shows the Speakers acknowledgement that he can grow up alone, yet his mother will always be there to support him by giving "a second pair of hands. Further the contrast between the examoranic metaphor "Anchor. Kice." of in stanza two and the Second examoranic metaphor in stanza 3 "Fall or Fly" is used to show an acceptance of growing up being a natural occurance through the Shirt of these two metaphors from man made objects to natural occurances. Overall Showing how the Speaker and his mother have come to terms with growing up.

Again, Similarly in the poem Walking away, Day-Lewis uses a Shirt between natural similies to resemble his acceptance of his son growing up. For example the Shirt between "Like a satisfice when the sound calm imagary of "Like a satisfice a winged seed to sned from its parents Stem replects the spectors accept but it is the right thing to ato bappen. Further the Change from the Verbs "Wrenched" to "Losned" Shows a Shirt in the writers attitudes in how he feels that his son is going to be obay, finally, the ract that the speaker states at the end of the poem that "Love is shown in the letting go" only further emphasises his acceptance of his son growing up.

L5 AO3

Nowin the poem Motherany distance we see that Armitage uses lanuage to show how when growing up your parents lose control over you and new rules are set. We see this through the use of the I space walk through empty bedrooms which is representative of how he fear that he has nothing holding him down, the gravity which potentually represents his mather is no longer there and he is now Free to explore the andless Sky as he has grown up and his mother cun no longer controll him.

	NOW, a similar idea is presented in the poem walking away,
_	Where day Day-Lewis user Structure and lanuage to _	represent how as his son grows up he is begining to love control
_	over him. The Structure of the quintets is representative
L!	AO2 us control the speaker has and still wants
_	to have over his son, which is followed throughout the poem.
	However, the Enjabment between stranza one and awo which is _	quickly Followled by a cerura is put in place to show a challenge to the speakers control of his structure, representing his son _	and how this control me inevatibly will change. This

	Firstly, One difference between the two poems is that they portray
